

sarah's prelude & food

Finkernagel & Lück Medienproduktion spices up classical music! A classical music show on the internet with a difference

The Location: 21st century version of the music salon - an open plan kitchen in Berlin.

The Hostess: effervescent, charming, world-class musician and member of the renowned Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra - Sarah Willis.

Her Mission: to bring classical music out of the concert hall into every day life where it belongs - starting with the kitchen, the heart of the home. From Bach's Prelude & Fugue to Sarah's Prelude & Food...

And so Sarah Willis welcomes the cream of classical musicians and their chosen guests into her kitchen salon to talk about music while they prepare their favourite meal. In "Sarah's Prelude & Food", the cooking is the catalyst for a relaxed, conversational atmosphere with musical flare and a personal touch. While recounting stories from their musical and creative lives, her guests peel onions, drink wine and compare cooking techniques.

"Sarah's Prelude & Food" also relies on a healthy dose of creative chaos where the cooking is spiced up with song and the playing of instruments. Ever heard a cello played in oven gloves..?

The music ranges from Bach to heavy metal, from Mozart to traditional bagpipes and from belcanto to jazz. "Sarah's Prelude & Food" also has a kitchen-pianist-in-residence - Philip Mayers - who adds to the charm of the evening with dry wit, sparkling accompaniment and impressive bottle-opening skills.

Classical music is a powerhouse of emotion and reflects the fundamental issues in our lives: joy, sorrow, despair, fear, passion, love. In Sarah's kitchen salon, we discover what makes great artists tick, from where they draw their creative energy and how they go about their daily lives. And last but not at all least, what they like to eat and drink.

Sarah Willis's guests in this first internet series are, amongst others, soprano Anna Prohaska, cellist Alban Gerhardt, conductor Donald Runnicles, oboist Albrecht Mayer, actor Christian Berkel, drummer Christoph Schneider and tenor Massimo Giordano.

Online release: 31 May 2013 at www.preludeandfood.com

For more information, videos and pictures contact@finkernagel-lueck.de www.finkernagel-lueck.de